LOCAL ITEMS.

THAT WALK.—Several times there has been some talk with regard to constructing some sort of foot way from the Post-office to the "West End." On one occasion this talk resulted in getting up a subscription for the purpose. The paper containing the names of those who wished to subscribe, was mislaid, however, and from this simple, and apparently unimportant fact, the affair was dropped to the ground. We are informed that the subscription offered by the people for this good purpose were very liberal. Now is the time, if ever, to construct the walk. The weather is dry as yet, but the winter rains will soon be upon us, and then it will be too late to do it without extra expenditures, which would now be unnecessary. Those who have to trudge through the mud daily, and many a time, will be glad to see the walk. The weather is dry as yet, but the winter rains will soon be upon us, and then it will be too late to do it without extra expenditures, which would now be unnecessary. Those who have to trudge through the mud daily, and many a time, will be glad to see the walk.

ACCIDENT.—Some days ago, as a Mormon team was returning homeward and had reached a point about three miles distant from town, the driver, who was somewhat intoxicated, fell from the seat. The horses became frightened and ran away. One of the wheels passed over the legs of the unlucky teamster, and he narrowly escaped having his bones fractured. He lay on the ground for perhaps fifteen minutes at the point at which the accident occurred, when he was picked up by a couple of miners, who had seen his mishap from a distant hill side came and assisted him to rise. They examined his injuries carefully, whilst he groaned incessantly, and found him uninjured, with the exception of a painful bruise on his left leg. The driver then took him to his team, which had become entangled in the sagebrush a short distance off, and placed him in the wagon. He was ungrateful, however, for when he found himself safely on the seat he thanked his benefactors by saying, with a drunken hiccup (and these were the first words he uttered after the accident) "D-n y' yer might ha' had sense enough to look after the horses and see if they wasn't hurt."

COV BELLS.—The other day, a farmer from one of the Mormon agricultural districts of the southern part of the county, having sold his wagon-load of chickens, vegetables, and such like articles, invested some of the proceeds in liquid refreshments. He then went into a store on Main street, and the following conversation ensued: Farmer (putting a large chew of tobacco into his mouth, and tucking up his breeches):—"Got any cov-bells?" "Polite clerk:—"Yes, here are some of the very finest make; we'll sell them to you cheap, too." Farmer:—"Well, yes; these are the best I ever had, but then they're too small. Hain't you got none bigger?" Clerk:—"No; those are the largest we have." Farmer:—"Well, I guess I'll go somewhere else, where I can get a better bell. I couldn't find them no distance at all." Clerk:—"Way, don't you see that they're all the better for being small. You will not have the least trouble in finding your cows if you use such a bell as this, for as soon as you hear the bell you will know that they are not far off." The farmer studied over it for a moment, and seeing that it was "logic," he bought the article. This may account for that clerk's so often whistling "Beautiful Bells."

SIMILAR.—It seems a very singular thing that a great many fires are not occasioned by the apparent carelessness of the Chinese who live in the lower part of town. Every night just after dark, one may see a great number of small fires on the door-steps, front and back, and sometimes even between the houses. These are the fires, and are intended to propitiate the bad spirit or keep him away. It is really a wonder that the cry of the fire does not ascend from Chinatown every night; yet we know of no instance in which the burning of joss-sticks or joss-paper has resulted in the destruction of property.

THEMESDOR FALLS.—It is really singular how small a thing will put a man out. It is seldom, however that those "most potent, grave and reverend seigniors," the limbs of the law, are disconcerted, as was one in Bullionville the other day. He had finished the argumentative part of his speech, and was just in the middle of the pathetic part. The sale of the church-room, and angels' tears were falling fast, when his Honor said, "confine your remarks to the dog-fight case." "My learned friend" sat down.

BEAUTIFUL METEOR.—Last night, about half-past 10 o'clock, a meteor appeared in the eastern sky, about 60° above the horizon, and moved swiftly to the south-west, traversing, we should judge, an arc of 30° or 40°. The meteor was as far from the horizon when it disappeared, as when it first became visible, seeming to go in an almost perfectly straight line, and leaving a brilliant trail of light in its wake.

FUNERAL.—The funeral of the late H. A. Brunner took place yesterday at 4 o'clock, from his late residence on McCannan street. The procession which followed the remains to the grave consisted mostly of his fellow business men, who manifested much regret at his untimely death. The grave in which he is interred is in the Jewish burying ground.

PROF. FOWLER.—It was announced in yesterday's paper that Prof. O. S. Fowler was coming to Pioche soon to lecture; but we received a note from the Professor last evening in which he expressed some doubt as to the matter. We hope he may conclude to pay our town a visit. If he does, due notice of his coming will be given in our columns.

CONGRATULATIONS.—We acknowledge the receipt of a certificate of honorary membership in the Humboldt Agricultural, Mining and Mechanical Society of Nevada. Judge O. R. Leonard is President of the Society, and we learn by our kindred exchanges that it is in a flourishing condition.

NEW PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY.—Messrs. Atterley & Fox, late of Virginia, have arrived in Pioche, and purpose engaging in the photograph business in all branches of the building on Main street lately occupied by H. D. Bremer as a saloon.

WILTING.—An exchange gives the following recipe for destroying "wilted" weeds: "Let a handsome and rich man say 'wilt thou' and they wilt." This is nothing but the "wilted" Pioche bummer undergoes when he is asked to take a drink.

THE HANLEY CASE.—The trial of K. J. Hanley on the first of five indictments for embezzlement, was brought to a close by the final disagreement of the jury. The vote at the last ballot was six for acquittal and the same number for conviction.

TO ARRIVE.—W. H. Clark, Samuel Williams, Capt. I. G. Messer, John Herd, Miss Rebecca Sharp, Miss Beemiss, and Miss N. Hayden will arrive by today's Hamilton stage, says the telegraph.

POLICE COURT.—Justice Van Hagen yesterday imposed a fine of $25 on C. L. Goodwin for fighting. The fine was paid and Goodwin was released.

SHIPMENT OF BULLION.—Yesterday Wells, Fargo & Co. shipped bullion to the value of $4,742.44.

DISTRICT COURT.—The term-jurors have been excused until Monday next.

CONWAY, who made an unsuccessful attempt to assassinate ex-Senator Pomeroy, at Washington City the other day, is a native of Baltimore, and a printer by trade. He studied law, and went to Kansas and took part in the early struggles of the Territory as a Free States man. After serving as County Judge, he was elected to Congress, as the first Representative of Kansas. At the end of his term he was appointed by President Johnson as Consul to Marseilles, but was removed by President Grant soon after the latter's inauguration. He has been living in Washington City several years.

It is pretty broadly intimated that one of the reasons for the declension of the Chief Justiceship by Senator Conkling, was the fear that the Administration might not be able to secure the election of the right kind of a man to succeed Conkling in the Senate.

THE paper published by a New York paper, stating that the heirs of the late Chief Justice Chase will lose all of their personal estate by the failure of Jay Cooke & Co., is pronounced untrue.

BRIEF GLANCES.
